

Gør tanke til handling

VIA University College

MATERIALER Hvor meget vand bruges der til dyrkning og produktion af 1 kilo bomuldstekstil? Svar: Op til 10.000 liter, Afhængigt af kilden Bomuld har historisk været et kostbart og luksuriøst materiale. Nu udgør bomuld 43% af beklædningsfibre. Naturmaterialer anvendes ofte som argument for bæredygtighed i markedsføring, men der bruges 20% af verdens samlede sprøjtemidler til bomuldsproduktionen og store landbrugsarealer udpines.	MATERIALS How much water is used to grow and produce 1 kilogram of cotton textile? Answer: Up to 10.000 liters Depending on the source Cotton has historically been an expensive and luxurious material. Now cotton makes up 43% of clothing fibers. Natural materials are often used as an argument for sustainability in marketing, but 20% of the world's total pesticides are used for cotton production and large agricultural areas are exhausted.
VIL DU VIDE MERE? ➤ HUSK! Kritisk kilderefleksion Fashion Unknown Fact 10,000 liters of water...grow one kilo of cotton – E D G E UN Helps Fashion Industry Shift to Low Carbon UNFCCC kuyichi_water_report_2021.pdf	DO YOU WANT TO KNOW MORE? ➤ REMEMBER! Critical reflection of the source
Anne Louise Bang, ANLB@via.dk Poul-Erik Jørgensen, PEJO@via.dk Center for Applied Research in Textiles, Design & Circularity VIA University College, Denmark 2025	